COLLEGE DEVELOPMENTAL LEAGUE

Director: Gary Hess

The College "Developmental" League is a league which has been an extremely effective and competitive league for the serious High School hockey player as well as Junior and Collegiate hockey players who desire to continue to compete and play at a high level of hockey during the summer months. For many years the CDL has been advantageous for the very skilled hockey player to challenge his skill level against the stronger and better players in our area to compete within the College Developmental league against each other. The CDL is designed to provide a highly competitive atmosphere for players ages 15-20. High School Varsity or Midget A experience is minimum requirements. Highly recommended by Hockey coaches for the serious High School and College hockey players.

The schedule will consist of 12 games includes playoffs, with each team also receiving 2 team practices. Jersey provided by the League for Teams and individuals.

The best coaches available from the college, high school and amateur ranks in the area will be contacted to coach each team. All are skilled and experienced and will emphasize a collegiate style of play. Modified USA Hockey rules strictly enforced.

Players and coaches are encouraged to form team entries. Individual players will be placed on teams after the last evaluation session. Coaches should be notified of any carpools during registration.

Some former CDL players : John Foster – Played with Denver Pioneers 2004 & 2005 NCAA Champs currently Wheeling Nailers ECHL; Bryan Miller – Player Boston College; USA National team, Alaska Aces - ECHL; Keith Bland – USHL-Sioux City, NCAA University of Alaska Baton Rouge-ECHL. Joe Dudek – Army, NCAA, Dubuque – USHL Fighting Saints; Kyle Palmieri – 1st round NHL draft pick 2009 currently attending Notre Dame;

Stay sharp and continue to further your careers while making your mark in the CDL
